Related styles: ELECTRONIC: Virtual Orchestra, ELECTRONIC: Pop Crossover Details: Random Acts, the new CD by Kansas City composer, guitarist, and visual artist Jack Sharman, is a collection of pieces written for dancers, short films, and, in some cases, no particular reason at all. Drawing on a variety of musical influences, from film music to flamenco, Sharman has created a dynamic sonic environment that is at once openly electronic, and shamelessly orchestral in sentiment. Synthesized and sampled sounds combine with live instruments and the beautiful voice of soprano Jennifer Lee Robinson to deliver an exciting musical journey, full of unexpected twists and turns.
