Alone in the desert, between twilight and dusk, the reflective warmth of a musical vision quest. 11 MP3 Songs EASY LISTENING: Adult contemporary, NEW AGE: Adult Alternative Show all album songs: Taos Skies Songs Details: Imagine that you are alone in the New Mexico desert, sitting silently on the rim of a rugged canyon as the last warm rays of sun fade from soft orange to pale violet, and then to black. There is a moment between twilight and dusk - a half life of shadows - that if you listen carefully with your heart, you can hear the desert whisper the names and stories of those who have passed this way throughout time. A Yaqui Shaman teaches us that we can only truly see with our eyes wide shut. In that same spirit, if you close your ears to the world around you and redirect your musical perception inward, new possibilities can awaken. This album began as a musical dream. If you heed its call and walk that inner path of listening with your heart, you will experience the vision of Taos Skies. *** Glen Spreen has over 100 credited performances as an arranger, producer, conductor and musician for many top artists. In one notable role, Glen arranged 3 songs that helped Elvis make his legendary comeback - Kentucky Rain, Suspicious Minds, and In the Ghetto. In addition to Elvis, some of the artists Glen has worked with include Waylon Jennings, Willie Nelson, B.J. Thomas, Dan Fogelberg, Wayne Carson, Dave Loggins, Jose Feliciano, Johnny Mathis, John Hiatt and the Flying Burrito Brothers - just to name a few. After a life time of creating pop hits that have become household names for a generation, Taos Skies is a musical vision quest of instrumental songs composed and performed by Glen Spreen. So just close your eyes, relax and imagine a lonely starry night in the desert of New Mexico. As that warm desert wind gently swirls its embrace around you, Taos Skies will whisper to you in the distant echoes of your mind. *** Earamas is the duo of Gary Clark and Glen Spreen, working together from Thousand Oaks, California and Vista Lago, Texas.
