Left of center acoustic soul 11 MP3 Songs POP: Folky Pop, FOLK: like Ani Details: "Dykers is an extremely soulful singer/songwriter; the type who could sing about lint and make you smile or cry, whichever he chose."- Faze 3 Magazine In an industry full of stories and storytellers, none is more ripe than the story told by Chapel Hill, NC singer/songwriter Andrew Dykers. Over the last two years Andrew has become one of the most sought after performers on college campuses across America. His honesty and heart-felt connection to his Life and his music are undeniable, and have earned him a great deal of respect from fans, critics, and fellow musicians. "There's a lot to compliment."- Flash Magazine Andrew's debut album, entitled Zoot, is long over due. The original version, recorded with local talents Rob Chaseman and Stephen Levitin, was scheduled for release in 2000. It then found its way to three-time Grammy winning manager/producer Linda Goldstein. The result was new material, fresh looks at old favorites, and an album that was worth the wait. Andrew recorded tracks with a host of amazing new friends like native South African saxophonist Morris Goldberg who is best known for his work on Paul Simon's Graceland. Also in the mix was bassist Matthew Rubano, whose work includes contributions to the five-time Grammy winning album Miseducation of Lauryn Hill, and trumpeter Kevin Bryan, who has performed with the Duke Ellington Big Band. Combining strong lyrics, raw spoken word, and a soulful groove, Andrew Dykers creates a genuine connection between musician listener that will last as long as your disc doesn't get scratched or stolen! "Love was in the air. The music set the mood."- The East Carolinian With literally hundreds of college performances in 43 states to his credit, Andrew has proven his willingness to commit his heart to his fans and his feet to the highway. He has shared the stage with national acts including Shawn Mullins, Edwin McCain, Dave Mathews Band, the Doobie Brothers, Duncan Sheik, Sister Hazel, The Verve Pipe, Everything, Jupiter Coyote, the Spin Doctors, Leftover Salmon, Merl

Saunders, and more. "Andrew Dykers is writing some heavy lyrics for the band- thoughtful stuff, short on bullshit and artsy obscurity and long on coherence and cool smarts."- Spectator Magazine "In Spite of You is one of the best get back I've heard since Marvin Gaye did Here My Dear for his ex-beloved."- ESP Magazine
