Deep sound explorations, atmospheres, and environments evoking other worlds and times. Lost ceremonies, found archaeologies, with medicine drum, didg, gongs, voice, whirl tube, bells, draped in textures and subtle harmonies. Previously unreleased. 7 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Ambient, ELECTRONIC: Soundscapes Show all album songs: Twilightmind Songs Details: "I am committed to the idea that art/music, more than being a object for sale or an industry, is actually a fluid and transformative process, with its roots in our common ancient past, and its wellspring in the depths of our beings and beyond. The results of this process are maps of/to lost and uncharted realms. In a culture of encroaching technology, increasing hyper-rationality, and stifling binary thought, I feel it is not only a radical approach, but of increasing importance to address feeling and intuitionthe widely unacknowledged subtleties of our being. In addition, since training in Reiki and other forms of energy healing, incorporating the healing properties of music has become of increasing interest to me. "Sound sources include: traditional musical instruments, found and handmade objects, toys, voice, microphones, field recordings, primitive electronics and more sophisticated electronics. Emotional aspects of a recordings always come first. My recordings have been described as ambient, tribal, ritualistic, a direct link to our ancient, and arcane ancestry and ...not mere music, but an almost shamanic attempt at deconstructing our interpretation of reality, by connecting us to an anti-technological, primal psyche.
