Details: In 1985 Javier Galvan y FAMA made an astounding debut, and soon earned recognition as one of the most dominating bands in the Tejano industry across the nation. A string of career hit singles came their way in the mid '90s' when "Lagrimas De Alegria", "Quiero Volverte A Ver", "Querer Tu Amor", "Te Voy A Ensear", "Ojitos Color Cafe", "Amor Perdoname", "Boulevard De Sueos" and "Llorando" dominated the airwaves as they spent numerous weeks atop Tejano and Latin Billboard airplay charts, earning numerous awards and nominations from BMI, Premios Lo Nuestro, and Univision's Premios A La Musica Latina. In the process, Fama also appeared on numerous international Latin television programs such as: Despierta America, El Gordo y La Flaca, Escadalo TV, Padrisimo, Control, and Sabado Gigante. Statistically speaking Javier Galvan y Fama have scaled unbelievable heights, carving a permanent place in the music scene. Javier Galvan is one of the few artists to have shattered international barriers. With 18 recorded albums, of which four were certified gold, three platinum, and one double platinum, it is undeniably clear of how or why Javier Galvan had become a pivotal figure in the eyes of his fans, but in the midst of all the success, for Galvan, something was still missing. He then accepted the Lord as his personal savior in 2001, finding inspiration for his music. In 2003, his first gospel album entitled "One Nation Under God" perfectly captures the way Javier has grown as a singer, songwriter, guitarist, publisher, arranger, producer, and most importantly as a person. "One Nation Under God" unfolds like a diary in the life of Javier Galvan, who now lives his life with purpose and direction, as he continues to craft music that is as exhilarating as it is distinctive, with his impeccably soaring talent. Though Galvan deals with the gamut of human emotion, the cumulative feel of FAMA is life-affirming, and fans by the thousands have responded positively and passionately. Javier Galvan y FAMA's new album entitled "Nostalgia" has solidified their commitment to music. As this CD will, once again, prove they are stronger than ever. Each song runs an emotional cable through the hearts and lives of music fans. It's an album that without question displays another measurement of the talent and versatility that will genuinely take FAMA to new heights of achievement in their musical career.
