Details: Houndog Harrison is a medley of Americana, Rock and Roll, Blues, Bluegrass and Rockabilly cooked for twenty-some years, combined with the modern influence of electronic composer Dr. Michael Barnhart and cooked to perfection with the latest digital technology. Multi-instrumentalist Bradley Gray and Ronny Richards (guitar and vocals) started playing together in the early 70's. Around 1980 they started playing music with bass player Randy Ballinger. The band "Houndog Harrison" was then formed with the addition of Dr. Michael Barnhart (sax, and keyboards) and percussionist, vocalist Jody Gray, when they decided to focus on recording their own songs in 1994. "Houndog Harrison's" first CD "Indecision" was released in 1996, followed by the 1999 release of "American Dreams". The bands latest CD titled "Bonafide" was released in February of 2009. "Houndog Harrison" was named one of "Americas Best Unsigned Bands" by musician magazine in 1997, and has received radio play in the United States and Europe.
