The soundtrack to the Award Winning documentary feature film about live action role players, Darkon. 16 MP3 Songs CLASSICAL: Orchestral, CLASSICAL: Traditional Details: Violinist Jonah Rapino, who also scores silent classics, has created an evocative score on par with any Hollywood fantasy. - EDDIE COCKRELL, Variety The soundtrack to the Award Winning documentary feature film, Darkon. Darkon follows the real-life adventures of an unusual group of weekend "warrior knights," fantasy role-playing gamers whose live action "battleground" is modern-day Baltimore, Maryland, re-imagined as a make-believe medieval world named Darkon. These live action gamers combine the physical drama of historical re-enactments with character-driven storylines inspired in part by such perennial favorite fantasy epics like the legends of King Arthur, Lord of the Rings, and the saga of Conan the Barbarian. As role players, they create alter-egos with rich emotional, psychological, and social lives. They costume themselves and physically act out their characters exploits both in intimate court intrigue and campouts and in panoramic battle scenarios involving competitive strategies, convincingly real props, and full contact "combat." Because real life so often gets in the way, its easy to understand these players' motivations. Everybody wants to be a hero.
