Miles To Go features beautiful vocals with tight harmonies and tasteful instrumentation. Songs vary from traditional bluegrass and country to Irish, gypsy and gospel with no shortage of train songs. 17 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Bluegrass, FOLK: Modern Folk Details: Miles To Go is an 80 female bluegrass band. They use this ratio to their advantage by singing siren songs that will draw you into a trance and possibly love you up and turn you into a toad. The band is Cassie Singley on lead vocals and frailing banjo, Tamilisa Wood and Hilary Barlow both play mandolin and fiddle and sing beautiful harmonies, Maggie Sabey plays bass and Trent McCausland plays guitar. Miles To Go has a unique and pleasing sound distinguished by its powerful vocals and fine instrumentation. The trio of harmonies has been compared to watching birds diving and swooping around each other in an almost choreographed dance. Its truly enchanting. This is the band's debut CD. We hope you enjoy it as much as we enjoyed making it. Here's a little info on each song: Asheville Hilary wrote this after too many months of cold, snowy weather. She loves Asheville, NC, a bluegrass Mecca. Maybe some day shell take us there. Ride on a Train This is a Judith Edelman song. We started playing this one in our bands infancy and its always been a favorite. A Girls Song Trent showed up one night with this beautiful poem by Leslie Norris. Leslies wife, Kitty, had once told Trent that he was such a serious boy and needed a hobby. He picked up the guitar. Leslie passed away shortly after recording his remarks on this CD. We are truly blessed and honored to have his approval and work on this project. Duluth Sultrified Mason Jennings. This siren song could well be a powerful tool for any girl wanting to lure an unsuspecting traveler. Goodnight Peter Pan Cassie wrote this after a break-up. Her mom is convinced that this song will be her romantic demise. Hard Times Havent we all had them? We love Maggies bowing on this number. Gypsy Wagon Train Another great Hilary song. For some reason, Hilary thinks she knows everything about Gypsies, although were not sure shes ever met one. Her grandma, Ruth Kartchner, remembers the gypsy wagons circling up in Provos North Park. Her stories were the inspiration for this song. Grow Old with Me Cassies attempt to redeem herself. Long Gone Lonesome Blues Good Ol Hank Williams when country was cool. This is Rusty the Mules favorite tune. Cassies yodeling gets her braying like crazy. Are You Washed Tamilisa sings this one. Her mandolin break is the coolest on the CD. Special thanks to Reverend Davis for his spirit and enthusiasm for the gospel. Maybe This is a bitter song and were bitter too because we had to pay handsomely for it. Enjoy this song cause its worth its weight in gold. Orphan Train This was a last minute add. We would sing this with Amanda (4) and Lucy (2) Groberg while waiting to record. We loved their voices so much we had to put them on the CD. We tried to adopt them into the band but Geoff (their dad, our producer) said they were too young to go on tour, which seems odd since we havent made it out of the state yet. Hallelujah We always like to close with this gospel number. And besides we could all use a little more religion in our lives.
