Details: Sam Plotkin is a 16-year-old from Somers, Connecticut with a soulful passion for singing, songwriting, and performing. He has been a featured soloist since the age of 8 with a steadily growing fan base, and has performed in many venues including the MassMutual Center, Six Flags New England, Springfield Symphony Hall, the Iron Horse Music Hall, Theodores, the Majestic Theater, and the Big E Eastern States Exposition. Sam performed for many years with the Dan Kane Singers, and at the age of 12, he recorded a popular CD entitled Stepping Out with a band of several local musical legends, selling out his CD release concerts. In 2007, he recorded a debut album of original songs entitled Give Me a Sign, produced by Cliff Downs in Nashville, Tennessee with a band of some of Nashvilles finest musicians. The CD received a Live Wire Award from the Republican newspaper as one of the top local albums of 2007. (See press quote below). In 2008, Sam completed the filming of his Run Away music video in Nashville with Glenn Sweitzer of Fresh Design + Film, part of which was filmed in Reba McEntires studio. The video can be seen on YouTube, as well as on Sams website (samplotkin.com) and MySpace (myspace.com/samplotkin). Underground, just released on December 11, 2008 at the Iron Horse Music Hall, is Sams newest album, an enhanced CD that is a complete collection of his original songs and videos, including his newest compositions produced by Cliff Downs. Sam continues to perform for local events and benefits in between his songwriting and recording. He is a popular entertainer with a powerful presence as an emerging pop/rock singer and songwriter. The following reviews by music writer Donnie Moorhouse, noted Nashville record producer / songwriter Cliff Downs, and musical critics underscore Sams depth as a young performer, songwriter, and pop star in the making:
