Details: BluchiprecordsHip-hop music has emerged from being an underground phenomenon into a billion dollar business. The hip-hop culture reigns supreme over many of the different music genres. The popularity of hip hop has transcended its ascension into movies, films, commercials, clothing and various aspects of the way of life. A young and smart entrepreneur named Vincent V Millz Miller is playing a key role into making BluChip Records into a major player in the rap game. At 25 years old, V.Millz has networked and strived to create and empire, which will be highly, revered throughout the hip-hop kingdom. He has used the blueprint of many successful records labels such as Roc-a-fella, Rap-a-lot, Def Jam, Bad Boy, Cash money to structure BluChip Records. BluChip Records begin in 2004 when friends Southwest Houston raised Vincent V.Millz Miller and rapper Chuck-Yo decided to start their own label. Chuck-Yo had been shopping his demo trying to get signed with a major label when he realized with his talent and V. Millzs business/hustler mind-set they could make an invincible team. BluChip Records have been aggressively and independently, pressing records themselves, and doing a lot of self promotions. They have strived to make their name more visible by doing mixtapes and performing at shows as much as possible. In 2006 BluChip Records plans on making big noise on the Houston/Texas rap keep. Keep your ears to the street and watch out for this new H-Town threat.
