

Mp3 Tom May - Blue Roads, Red Wine

Tom May's voice sounds like hot chocolate on vanilla ice cream; rich and smooth on a filling combination of topics such as love, friends, wine, and history. 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Progressive Folk, FOLK: Traditional Folk Show all album songs: Blue Roads, Red Wine Songs Details: For over 35 years, through dumb luck, a lot of work, and the auspices of good friends and great pickers, I have lived the dream of the coast to coast troubadour, performing in hundreds of concert halls, festivals, coffeehouses and clubs. Along the way I created and produced a national radio/TV program River City Folk(heard on public radio and XM satellite radio since 1985 and still going strong); produced festivals such as Winterfolk in Portland Oregon and The Festival at the Fort in Omaha, Nebraska; and written a book internationally available through Routledge Publishing, New York (Promoting Your Music; The Lovin of the Game-with Dick Weissman) But most of all, I have tried to be true to singing about the things I most care about in life; love, history, friends, wine and books. This album, my 12th, is an opportunity to reflect and rejoice about the entire journey to date. Cheers! Tom May
