Over the past few months, you may have heard some news about the hottest brand new social network called Pinterest. According to Compete.com, there are approximately 11 million unique visitors to Pinterest as of January 2012. This has made Pinterest the world No #5 Social Network beating out some other BIG names such as LinkedIn and Google+. Undeniably, Pinterest has taken the social media world by storm where users visually share, curate, and discover new posting or known as pinning images or videos to their own or others pinboards. However, Pinterest is quickly becoming the trailblazing social network for millions of people across the world.
