

Art And Technology: Bridges To A Multicultural Society - John Eger

DOWNLOAD HERE

The world is so inextricably interconnected that cultural and economic isolationism is unthinkable, even if it were desirable. Perhaps the most effective thing that can be done to promote multicultural understanding is to use the new technologies -- with their powerful capacity for shaping and delivering human interchange -- as virtual bridges across the vast distances separating cultures. However, if the information revolution is to fulfill its promise, these bridges must carry information that truly enriches and enlightens humanity. Is it time for a new APP exploring the world's investments in Art and Culture?
