Southern D-boy style Rap That drives bad girls crazy... 13 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: Southern Style, POP: Party Pop Details: First of all this is the first album BIZZIE B has made. support is highly needed for new artist I hope you hear something in BIZZIE B. Producer/ rap artist Bizzie B emerged in early 2005 starting out as a producer creating hardcore and D-Boy style funk beats, which produced a new sound for Bizzie B. Coming from a low income back ground producer/ rap artist Bizzie B had a harsh out look on life because of poverty and hard times growing up. Bizzie B was born and raised in Richmond VA. During a time where there was a lot of violence and drug pushing on the streets he was from. When Bizzie B was a young boy he was a part of a middle school basketball team. His first year on the team they won the championship with one lose. Even though he was a second stream bench warmer he still manage to score a few points, but more so he was a sole inspiration for his team being fairly popular in class and on the streets. Being from a hard project complex his street smarts and credibility gave his friends and fellow teammates the security that they were a tough crew as well as a good team. The second year of ball playing he was arrested for grand theft auto, which did not allow him to finish his eight-grade season. Bizzie B was fined $200 damages and two weeks in juvenile detention do to the fact his fellow accomplices turned state on him to save themselves. This made Bizzie B bitterer about the chance he had in life with no loyalty between friends. Their where several incidents in Bizzie Bs life that strengthened Bizzie B and made him a stronger person. Bizzie Bs mother basically lived off of government help and low-income jobs. Several members of Bizzie Bs family were battling drug abuse witch basically paved the way for the producer/ rap artist Bizzie B to inter the drug game. He hated cocaine with a passion with a passion because of how it affected friends, family and people in general. After experimenting with the street life for over a decade through all of the trails, tribulation and arrest

Bizzie B decided it was enough. Now it was time to find a better way, there is a lot more graphic detail on the things that has happen over the years we could go on an on. In any event change was destine to happen, Bizzie B began experimenting with home business information and found that his funds were to low to invest in a good home business. Bizzie B never maid it big in the drug game do to moving around which you would think that would allow him to meet more people, but it was the opposite. Being that the projects he grew up in were destroyed and replaced with a school and new housing he did not stay in one place long enough to adapt to that street life. Being that he did not have enough investment money he had to work a low pay job and associate with marijuana. Until he was arrested for marijuana with intent to distribute and concealed weapon charges. Bizzie B began his pursuit in music at about 18 years old he was going to studios and clubs with friends and family members. Bizzie B has a cousin that was in the rap game before being shot and put into a wheel chair. Producer/ rap artist Bizzie B was soon able to acquire music programs that allowed him to create good sounds. Being a fresh new face to music Bizzie B did not have singers on hand so he decided to do rap songs with the hope of expanding to the pop/ R&B genre.
