"It's hard to resist being curious about a song with a title like "Bagels & Cowboy Hats", and even harder to hold back being asked to add something to the remix production, when that song turns out to be such a well crafted track. I've been involved with remixes and post-production for Dreemtime ever since their inception, almost 5 years ago now. Each time I get the call to remix their tracks it's always such a great treat for me, much like letting a kid loose in a giant toy store." "I'm usually very busy with Scorccio and the sample replay service, but it's always a fully satisfying experience to put that to one side and have the pleasure of remixing Dreemtime....it's like sheer bliss and even therapeutic. Their sound is exactly where I'm at. With "Bagels Cowboy Hats" the story within the song is such a strong element, and even though I wanted to make it into an updated House track, I didn't want to lose the essence of the message it conveyed. That's always the challenge with any good song being put through the remix stage. Dreemtime have so many great songs - so the challenge of remixing them is bigger, but it makes my job all the more satisfying when dealing with the finest quality of musicians, songs, vocalists and music." scorccio.com/ MUSIC WRITER: ALEXANDRA SAMUEL New York.2008
