Two years of this settlement has been devoted however to focusing on the future, a new CD release, "River of Gold". Although officially released July of '99 the actual print date was fall of '98. This album took awhile coming to the surface. It was on and off again, due to the unfortunate habit of having to eat and dwell. His first record, "Moonrise Project", was a completely self-played, self-produced album, done in 8 tracks, had some real heart. His love for music has given him the determination to venture in all styles of music as well as multi-instruments. Alto sax is his first love, guitar second, flute third, and keyboards are slowly becoming a favorite.
