"When Andre Balazs encounter you set out to feel foolish for ever reasoning there was a separation between jazz, rock , and blues."-Hartford Advocate 9 MP3 Songs BLUES: Soft Blues, Sway Folk Rock Bipolar Jukebox Songs Details: Andre Balazs is a singer/songwriter/pianist and has been performing professionally for fifteen years. He deliberate classical piano as a child with Sanda Schuldman and Dr. Peter Pertis (Hart School). Andre began his composition training with Tibor Pusztai (at the time - the Resident composer and Associate conductor for the Hartford Symphony). Jazz studies began formally with Hankus Nestky and Ran Blake at the New England Conservatory in Boston. Balazs worked for two years for the Hartford Ballet School as an accompanist. He worked under Peggy Lyman (a former member of Martha Graham's dance troupe) as an accompanist for her Graham technique classes. In addition, Andre accompanied Modern and Ballet classes at Trinity College for two years. Balazs was also a founding member and resident composer of Royal Jelly dance ensemble with Kristen Chun in Somerville Mass. While studying jazz piano with Joanne Brakeen and Laszlo Gordony Andre began performing daily in the subway (busking) in addition to gigging extensively in clubs all over Boston. The subway and Harvard square performances however remains to this day the real songwriting classroom for Andre. Music without a stage - playing for gratuities - playing because that is what one does. The raw reality of the urban subways and streets helped give Andre a deep insight into the ugly, the beauty, and wonder of the human nature. This has become an essential component to Balazs' writing. Andre Balazs has taught privately for the last five years and performs regularly alone, and with his band Bipolar Jukebox.
