Spinmistress Batty, Morbid Outlook Webzine

"Stompy. Dancey. Spacey. Scientific. A must have for those of you with excessive angst! An excellent blend of smooth melodies with gritty, old skool informatik-ish vocals." Bob Westphal, The Shape of Things to Come, 89.1 WFDU

"If you haven't scammed a copy of Atomic Box's new CD, Planet X, do so ASAP. It's excellent!" Marat, Chairwoman, Contempt NYC

"I LOVE ATOMIC BOX! It's makin' dinner, dancin' around the kitchen in your underwear, good!"

FOR IMMEDIATE DISSEMINATION

Atomic Box - the Rev. Dr. Atomic and Special Agent Greene - emerged from the nuclear meltdown of numerous musical efforts on January 1, 2001. Besides pulling from such diverse musical styles as industrial, trance, punk, and metal, Atomic Box relies on a healthy dose of Fifties-era, post-bomb paranoia, sci-fi imagery, and 2001-ish futurism to create an aesthetic that is at once comfortable in its familiarity, and disturbing in it's off-kilter approach to electronic dance music. Atomic Box's music is naturally at home on the dance floor, with pounding beats and sweeping melodies, but the band's real strength lies in their ability to translate the quantized grooves and sequenced bleeps into a live show filled with the energy and spontaneity of any rock and roll act. To really experience Atomic Box, you need to see them play. The two members of A-Box have a long and storied career in the NYC industrial/gothic scene. Singer/Programmer Dr. Atomic originally fronted (under an alternate identity) the industrial-rock act Marlow's Lie, and is a founder of one of NYC's longest running industrial/gothic monthly parties, Contempt. He was joined in ML by A-Box percussionist/programmer Greene, who, along with his AB duties, also plays keyboards in NYC's Anathema Device and Uberjerk (where he also handles distorted acoustic guitar). The band is rounded out by their support staff, the Atomic Resonance Commission: Prof. Uri Xenokoff (Physicist), Robert Rosinski (Minister of Spatial Services), and the lovely Fallout Girls.
