Born and raised in Marianna, Arkansas, Sharrond began singing at the age of four years old. She got her start by singing in her family gospel group known as the Evening Stars. As a young student she began participating in the church choir, school talent shows, music showcases and more. Sharrond accepted Christ as her personal savior at eleven years old. She continued to participate in musical activities throughout high school including the Lee High School Marching and Concert Band, (instruments played were the clarinet and bari-sax) and a member of the Lee High School Concert Choir. Prior to the release of her current CD "Dedicated", Sharrond released a regional project or so she thought, entitled "Inspiration". This CD, by the grace of God, not only received airplay on various stations across the country, but also internationally, including Ireland and Puerto Rico.
