In the silence all you can hear are the gentle sounds of nature. Reverently, with the voice of the flute the elder reveals the mysteries of the ancient ones. You are humbled as you hear a call to the four sacred directions and you remember the simple yet profound connection you have with all that exists. The journey begins at sunrise...with the birds singing at the break of dawn, and a morning chant to honor the arrival of a new day. More than a recording, it is an experience of balance and harmony with all living things. Join the wind, rain, thunder, fire and crickets - listen to the distant drum (the artist's own heartbeat, his tribute to Mother Earth). An inspired recording of flute, vocals and nature.
