Born in Kingston, JA, the country known for leaving its footprints all over the world with its sweet sound of Reggae, Lil Precious started singing at a young age. She quickly discovered that her Jamaican ancestry blessed her with rhythm in her soul and a beautiful voice. Over the years Lil Precious talents grew further as she performed at local shows, community events, choirs, boat cruises, clubs and talent shows. In 2003 Lil Precious entered the Star Maker contest and her unique voice and amazing dance talent captured the audience, making her the winner for the R&B category. The contest provided her with the opportunity to record three songs and a music video and get radio airplay for her hot single Dont. Since then, Lil Precious has done numerous performances and award shows like The Reggae Music Appreciation Awards Tribute to Bob Marley show. She also had TV interviews on Caribbean Beats and was chosen to be the cover girl for the brand new Mwindu magazine. Lil Precious was the head-lining artist for most of the events she performed at, which included Mic Connection Thursday, Beach fest, Wild Coyote Fridays, the R&B Hip-Hop Reggae Fashion Show, Spring Break Bash at Shark Club, and Forbidden Saturdays at Fever. She also opened up for famous Reggae performing artists Tanto Metro and Devante, Baby Cham, Julie Black, Sir Mix A lot, Zuckie Joseph, and recently Mr. Vegas. During the last year Lil Precious has been working hard writing and recording songs for her first album which is being released September 2008. She is also in the process of recording her second music video which will be released shortly. Lil Precious talents extend beyond her captivating voice. The tropical rhythm she possesses gives her an extinguished dance flair that is sure to dazzle her viewers. With the same creative and seductive energy that Lil Precious has captured the attention of the music industry, she will captivate the public, with the power of her voice, lyrics, dance rhythm and natural beauty. Look out for her second single release
