"The Denim Dirt Farmer Breakdown": (instrumental) 2. "Soup de Jour The Dirty Dish Rag: The growin season's over The weather's gettin colder Makes one think of hot tea and soup Takes the chill out of the bones Makes a home feel like home Chase it down with somethin eighty proof You might call it stew That's entirely up to you But it's a broth not a sauce It's good ol' whatcha got From the garden's in the pot Soup When you're hibernatin like a bear Cabin feverish pullin out your hair You should do somethin that you know you should Put some water on a simmer It's always a winner And sure as shootin's gonna be good Take some thyme and mint And experiment Cause it's all that you tossed In it's good ol' whatcha got From the garden's in the pot Soup So don't be so shocked It's good ol' whatcha got From the garden's in the pot Soup 3. "Tomorrow": With a sundial smile I'll wake about noon Think about what to do but not too soon Have thoughts of sloths being built for speed And yawn as the lawn grows faster than me To say I take my time implies I steal it When they make it a crime they'll say I kill it But I'll get to it whatever "it" may be Gaze at my watch and see it's quarter til three I didn't expect yet regret knowing I've Now realized that tomorrow just arrived Yet time is a thing that can't be borrowed And since it hasn't happened it's called tomorrow And tomorrow's not promised to anyone Not you me or even the sun But I'll help you tomorrow I certainly will And that's when I'll pay those past due bills But today is the day that's just begun I'm a procrastinating rooster I don't wake with the sun So I didn't expect yet regret knowing I've Now realized that tomorrow just arrived Yet time is a thing that can't be borrowed And since it hasn't happened it's called tomorrow And tomorrow's not promised to anyone Not you me or even the sun 4. "Breakup": All things change and this is good Cause a stagnant pond's the same as a flood One's too much the other's not enough When it comes to people it may happen with love When you know the end has done begun Why do you stay When your tears run Love becomes habit an expected thing If you don't have it it's a broken ring It means nothing and you feel the same All except for hate and pain When you think your heart strings've been undone Why do you stay When your tears run Now it seems your river has run it's course A dry bank and bed leave but one resort You washed away so many years And started another river with your tears When it comes a time a couple's no longer one Why do you stay When your tears run For any of you listeners out there: Please feel free to e-mail any comments or criticisms- thank you all-smiles
