INTRODUCTION TO MUSIC THEORY
Lesson 2: The Chromatic Scale

Key = C

The chromatic scale consists of 12 notes transcending from low "doh" to high "doh" in a series of 1/2 steps. A sharp (#) raises a note by 1/2 step and a flat (b) lowers a note by 1/2 step. On a piano, the corresponding keys for sharps and flats are the black keys. Therefore, D sharp is the same note as E flat.

The interval between the 12 semitones or 6 whole steps is called an octave. The note on the extreme right of the given keyboard (high "doh") is an octave higher than the note on the extreme left (low "doh").
