Soulfully restorative, delicately spirited pop...Natalie Merchant meets Carole King 11 MP3 Songs POP: Delicate, EASY LISTENING: Soft Rock Details: If healing has a landscape, what do you see? Or a voice, what do you hope to hear? What can be cheaper than therapy than a soulfully provocative yet non-invasive collection of songs that reassures and captivates with the feel-better-now, spiritually attuned music of Nancy Kelly's Vessel of Gold? Melodic lyrical lines and great hooks with the savvy instrumental layers of producer Ian Townend, this album invites you into varied terrain. Some canvases you will see: fields of morning light, a darkened backstage, an abandoned desert; some yearnings you will feel: hanging on to love, thirst for rain, the pain of waiting. Unearth the folksy strumming of Two Worlds and the Enya-like strains of the title song, Vessel of Gold, or explore the upbeat rock pop of Backside of the Desert. Restorative, peaceful, yet fused with up-tempo energy, discover that Vessel of Gold has a healing magic all its own. Singer-songwriter, Nancy Kelly, resides in Meridian Idaho, just outside Idaho's capitol city of Boise. Originally from New England, she penned her first song at age 17 about tea-drinking candlelight hours on Cape Cod. Many composers, ancient to current day, have influenced Kelly's songwriting style, but she's most like this century's Carole King and Natalie Merchant. Playing her tunes in coffee shops around the Treasure Valley, and with recording projects to refine the whole creative process, an artistic musician has emerged comfortable in her own evolving skin. "The invigorating spirit of this approachable humble woman will astound and encourage you. Her original music straddles many genres and her performances are always an event!"
