Every song on this album is awesome; a magestic experience. Full of sweeping cinematic orchestration topped by soaring vocals, it's easy to envision armor-clad angels wielding luminous swords into a defining metaphysical battle, or elegantly dressed couples twirling around an ethereal ballroom. Powerful solo explosions and enchanting, stirring duets make every song on this album a moving experience. If music is magic, then the sound of magic is Pisces Projekt ----- Silk-clad and steel-toed, Pisces Projekt is the picture of masculine/feminine balance, strength and beauty (embodied by both Zakhur and Sinari). Combining orchestral instruments and new-age rhythms the music is a captivating blend of classical and electronic, archaic and modern, mystical and secular. Every note is intoned with passion and power, every word delivered with intent. Zakhur is at the root of it all. He is the vision, creation, direction and discipline behind Pisces Projekt. He keeps regular discourse with the same muses that spoke in the ears of the 13th century maestros, 18th century master composers and 20th century rhythm-and-blues crooners. Equipped with an Ensoniq workstation and a Roland mixer he creates entire concert orchestras replete with strings, woodwinds, horns, percussion and a profusion of new-age/electronica beats, all backed by a full choir of voices (his and Sinari's). Zakhur is an accomplished composer, songwriter and vocalist who has performed with the Roger Wagner Chorale and the Citrus Singers (under director Ben Bollinger), as well as a successful solo career under his own record labels. Sinari has received acclaim for her gifted voice, and she makes her recording debut here with Zakhur as Pisces Projekt.
