Details: A grouping of the bands favorite songs performed live, Ultraviolet Live takes the listener inside Karmacoda's private studio and into a front-row seat. Recorded in the summer of 2008 near the shipyards of San Francisco, the album captures the groups sound with an organic edge that comes through during their live performances. Fan favorites like 'Skylines' get rocked out and revved up, while 'Whatwithall' takes a more emotional turn, shining with soul. The most dramatic makeover comes with an entirely acoustic version of Chapel where the band members trade instruments (bassist Eric Matsuno on guitar and DJ Rafael Acevedo on piano) and vocalists Heather Pierce B. harmonizing gorgeously, highlighting the band's ability to transcend genres. With seven tracks in all, Ultraviolet Live is a gem of a collection, offering an up-close and personal listen into Karmacoda's original sound. (Ultraviolet Live is available as digital download and a limited edition CD.)
