Contemporary Southern Gospel Music tributing all of the southland's most popular styles, from Gospel Bluegrass and Christian Country to deep south Delta Spirituals and Dixieland Gospel Music. 10 MP3 Songs GOSPEL: Country Gospel, COUNTRY: Traditional Country Details: 'Little is Much', the premiere recording by contemporary southern gospel duet Old Fashion Faithful, is an outstanding collection of all original gospel compositions written by duet member Theresa Sroufe, tributing the entire genre of southern music, from bluegrass and country music to delta spirituals and Dixieland style gospel songs. Musically arranged and produced by Capricorn Records artist Keith Evans, 'Little is Much' is called the best work of his career, which includes an Emmy award for PBS television compositions and MGM's 'In The Heat Of The Night' musical scores. Keith is a born again Christian who has had a highly successful career in the commercial music industry. He is a noted session musician having been sought out for live concert and album project participation by many of the greatest names in popular music, from Jerry Lee Lewis and Little Richard to The Allman Brothers Band and former Beatles drummer Ringo Starr. Theresa Sroufe and Deborah Foster, the beautifully blended melody and harmony singing duet which comprise Old Fashion Faithful, each have musical careers spanning several years in both the commercial as well as Christian music fields. Theresa is a long time worship leader who presently sings as part of Dr. Charles Stanley's First Baptist Church Atlanta choir. Deborah is also a long time church choir member who has additionally enjoyed a career as a professional tour band singer. She is also a performer for community theater productions of classic Broadway musicals such as Fiddler On The Roof, South Pacific, Hello Dolly and Annie Get Your Gun. The duet and their new album are currently featured in a full page promotion by the southern gospel music industry's #1 publication 'The 2007 Singing News Magazine Sourcebook'. They are also featured on the front page of one of the nation's leading internet Christian magazine publications 'The Atlanta Christian Web' and are receiving increasing radio airplay of tracks from their CD. The duo frequently appears on variety of gospel television shows in addition to their live concerts. Old Fashion Faithful's southern gospel music roots go deep. Their ministry management is handled by inaugural year Southern Gospel Music Hall Of Fame and Museum recording studio engineer Darrell Sroufe. Darrell is also the creator, designer and namegiver of the Southern Gospel Music Association's international newsletter bannerhead 'Staffnotes'. Besides design creation, Darrell's stageman and performance creativity have won awards and special recognitions from major entertainment venues ranging from Dollywood, Nashville's Country Music Association, The Atlanta Braves and Turner Field Stadium, The Yellow Daisy Festival (America's #1 arts and crafts festival) as well as a special recognition from the United States Armed Forces Central Command for a performance for the chief commander of America's allied Afghanistan army. The same award winning stageman and related industry designing creativity known to major country music venues, major league baseball marketing teams, important United States allied military operations and the entire southern gospel music industry has been applied to both the musical and visual crafting of the 'Little is Much' CD as well as Old Fashion Faithful's concert performances, from beginning to end. 'Little is Much' is a first class CD of the highest quality and Old Fashion Faithful is a music ministry that both old and new contemporary southern gospel fans alike will enjoy to the very fullest! 'Little is Much' was acquired by Nashville's Eddie Crook Company in September of 2006 and Old Fashion Faithful signed with Eddie Crook's MorningStar Records, one of the leading southern gospel music record labels in the country. Tracks from 'Little is Much' will begin playing on southern gospel and country music radio as well as internet stations all over the world in 2007 as The Eddie Crook Company, MorningStar Records and Nashville's Rick Hendrix Company begin radio promotions of the CD! So join on in with the southern gospel music fans everywhere uplifting and glorifying the name of the Lord Jesus Christ through some of today's very finest Christian music with Old Fashion Faithful's premiere CD 'Little is Much'!
