"THE HARVEST" CD (song by song review) "I've always liked country music, and many country music styles. The Harvest represents this, and there's something on here for everyone." Andrew Dean "Money Tree" is a fun little number, poking fun at my thin wallet, with it's upbeat down-home country humor. WINNER 2004 Songwriter of the Year. "Tear Stained Paper" and "In My Memory" are traditional ballads that reflect a loss of someone very close. The style of these songs reflects my love of traditional instruments of country music. "She's Really Gone", "Baby's Gotta Boogie", and "Out

Of My Mind" represent the modern country sound. These songs were fun to write, and they are a crowd-pleaser to perform. "Baby's Gotta Boogie" has a beat to line dance to, and folks everywhere are kicking up their heels. "Robbing Peter To Pay Pauline" is a fun, upbeat, and humorous song. It was a BLAST recording this song in Nashville with such FINE MUSICIANS, and Oh, what a time we all had. "Fixin' To Go Home" was written on the road driving from Tennessee. This song was then LOST and I could NOT find it anywhere. It was scheduled to be included in this project. I prayed that I would find it, and one hour before going into the studio the Lord gave it BACK to me. Oh, He is so awesome. "Lonely Soldier" was originally written during the Vietnam War era, and it still speaks about modern-day world struggles. "In A Mother's Eyes" This song is VERY dear to me. A hometown soldier's mother donated a flag to our community when we didn't have a flag to fly, and it was the LAST thing she received from her son, who died defending our freedoms. A BIG THANK YOU to Alvina Krotzer in the memory of her son PFC Lynn R. Krotzer, a soldier. NITE*SKY records nitesky.us
