This unique collection of lullabies incorporates a variety of different musical selections including traditional lullabies, original music, instrumental pieces, and a special sing-along section. Our goal, in making this CD, was to create a musical experience that both children and adults could enjoy together. Several songs on this album are performed by singer/songwriter Kristen Puttagio, while others are performed by children. Our karaoke-style section gives parents an opportunity to sing along to their children or to just sit back and enjoy it with them. And finally, there is a "bonus" track, titled Lullabye Mountain, which will surely appeal to adults with its lyrics of love and tenderness, and to children with its musical warmth. Most recently, our CD has been listed in the book review section under Noteworthy in New York's Newsday. It has also been offered through NARAS in their monthly Grammy Award Guide music catalog. We have already seen this CD find a very special place in the hearts of many families. It is the perfect gift to share with a loved one.
