"Simple songs of love, loss and mourning... a brief patch of sweetness and light" OMH.com 11 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, POP: Folkly Pop Details: A classically trained violinist and vocalist, Nathalie Nahai began writing and arranging songs whilst still at school. Self-taught on guitar, she began performing publicly in 2004, taking time from her studies at Central Saint Martins (College of Art and Design) to record her debut album in the States, with top engineer Kristofer Sampson and multi-platinum Grammy award winning producer Don McCollister. In July of 2006, she released her self-titled album on her own label, Fuzzy Muskrat Records. Simple songs of love, loss and mourning a brief patch of sweetness and light - musicOMH With a voice that shines out with emotive warmth and an album of songs that instantly engage you, this is an impressive debut from Nathalie Nahai an alluring and tender introduction to a singer/songwriter well worth investigating UKmusicsearch A definite talent and one that would be great to see live in a nice little venue, lights down, one small spotlight and just the crowd, the voice and the guitar for company - Record Box Online Magazine Released on her own label, this is a beautifully recorded album that's already generating plenty of interest in the States, due to its mournful country feel. Definite potential for mainstream success on this fine debut - Puregroove Records
