At the age of ten I developed a passion for music. It was later in life that I had decided to pursue my musical interest. My studies started at the conservatory for voice in Regina from there I continued on for 3 years at the Canadian Bible College. Again returning back to the Conservatory for Voice at the University College Campus to Study under Peter Groom whom has helped me in developing more technique, range, and direction of where I wanted to go with my voice. In 2006 to 2007 Karen Martins at the conservatory of voice opened me up to pop music. Along my musical journey I found myself becoming more fortunate meeting up with great musicians such as Arnie Davis whom has introduce jazz piano and voice coaching. Shortly there after meeting up with songwriter, vocalist and producer Craig Salkeld. Craig has many remarkable musical talents that guided me into creating a professional CD demo. At present I have now completed my first full CD Album When It Comes to Love And plan to continue recording and promoting all my musical projects with in the music industry.
