Album Produced by Mike Ello and David Ello 2008 David Ello About the Project: The purpose of this CD is to convey the concept of Master of Dreams in its most basic form to inspire others with the music and vision of further developing the work into a fully orchestrated, fully staged piece of musical theatre. In Spring of 2007 I gathered a group of seven actors (myself included) to give voice to this work in the form of a staged reading at the Storehouse of the Houston Vineyard. After this it made sense to invite the same group of friends to participate in the recording of this concept album, since they had already invested so much of their time and hearts in the project. Early on I made a decision to incorporate womens voices as well as mens to convey the parts of Josephs brothers and other characters typically portrayed by men, and this decision was made to show the rich creative possibilities of cross-gender casting. It is my hope that these performers will help carry your imagination into a musical journey that leaves you dreaming along with us by the end! David Ello People who are interested in Andrew Lloyd Webber Frank Wildhorn should consider this download.
