Introspective electronica trip hop and abstract sounds. Ursula Rucker and other great musicians inside. 10 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Trip Hop, SPOKEN WORD: Poetry Details: 2Blue is formed at the end of the 90s as an open collective, around dj Luca Rocca Roccatagliati and architect Enrico Marani. DJ Rocca is a founder member of Maffia, the club which is a focus of the italian electronic scene (venue for artists as Howie B, Bill Laswell, Fat Boy Slim, Roni Size) since more than ten years. He has parallel projects: with British dj Zed Bias works as Daluq, together with Pressure Drop founded the Cane Matto combo, and with Fabrizio Tavernelli Aiello. He is also the pillar of Maffia Soundsystem, with whom he toured most of Europe. Enrico Maranis experiences as performer and musician started at the end of the 80s, in the industrial-noise group T.A.C. During the 90s he worked with Manit Rossi in Le Forbici di Mani, that released 7 albums on various independent labels, in Italy and abroad: one of these is dedicated to Luther Blisset, and attracted the attention of international press (Wire). At the end of the 90s he founded Duozero with Fabrizio Tavernelli (AFA, Groove Safari). 2Blue released two albums for the label Kom Fut Manifesto. The first, Fattore Sonoro, is meant as accompaniment for Andrea Chiesis paintings, and comprises electronically generated instrumental suites. With this soundscape, Andrea Chiesis work has been exhibited in important national galleries, like Galleria Civica (Modena), Palazzo delle Papesse (Siena), Inga Pin Gallery (Milano). The second album, Light Transmission, is the condensation of 2Blues artistic efforts, looking also at the human voice for the constitution of a consistent textual plot, accompanied by an accomplished rhythmic and sonic research. Collaborators to Light Transmission are: Ursula Rucker, poet and singer from Philadelphia, with two albums on k7 (Supasista and Silver or Lead), Dave Watts, voice in Fun Da Mental and Tim Motzer, guitarist active on the Philadelphia scene (Les Nubians, King Britt, Patti LaBelle, Ursula Rucker). Light Transmission gets very good reviews on the Italian press (Alias, Rockstar, Mucchio Selvaggio, Rockerilla). 2Blue are working on their third album, weaving new sonic textures.
