Pop-rock with vocals that alternately soar, growl, and coil around visceral lyrics and brooding verses then explode into hooked-filled choruses. 10 MP3 Songs POP: California Pop, ROCK: Modern Rock Details: No one plays guitar and sings like the great Jessie Turner -San Francisco Chronicle excellent, versatile vocal cords; she soars on the high notes and drops to a sultry alto -San Francisco Bay Guardian Her beautiful, liquid soprano holds pitch well and flows through a couple of octaves like a clear mountain stream. Her dynamics, even during a single number, may range from a wisper to a rousing, full-throated proclamatory line -San Francisco Examiner The road to notoriety is long, bumpy, and steep. Artists need an all-terrain temperament and a lot of drive if they are to arrive intact. It's a lesson Bay Area Singer-songwriter Jessie Turner knows well. For several years she has slowly but surely been winning over audiences on the U.S. folk circuit with her warm crystalline voice, deft guitar work, and powerful stage presence. Recently she even sang to millions of television viewers who saw her perform the American National Anthem at a St. Louis Cardinals game. an artist with a most promising future. -Dirty Linen Clever lyrical ideas and inviting melodies...A strong live performer... -Music Connection Magazine Jessie Turner's songs and singing have a unique power and originality. She is blazing a promising path toward becoming one of the notable singer-songwriters of her generation. -Paul Winter Jessie Turner tackles Rock, Salsa, Country, and Classical in her new full length CD, Freak of Fancy. Freak of Fancy demonstrates Turners ability to successfully traverse these genres with her own style intact. Tough without being harsh, sweet without being sappy, Turners unique vocals and signature percussive guitar playing flow from one song to another and seamlessly unite this diverse collection of compositions. One of the more persistent observations about her aptly named first release, "Here and There" was that it was just that a wide variety of styles. For ease of classification, her second CD, "All the Sweet Things" featured a more cohesive group of songs. Having discovered that the realities of the industry are stacked against eclecticism and those artists who have passed beyond their teenage years, Turner has come to terms with her native bent, which is not to conform, but in fact to resist classification to do what appeals to her artistically and aesthetically. Though Turners pen is guided by numerous sojourns through Spain and Latin America, travels through the south, and a tour through music school, she freely admits taking enormous liberties. Collaboration with musicians B.Z Lewis and Billy Lee Lewis (Tommy Castro, Roy Rogers) strengthened her efforts. Turners unfailing pop sensibilities have won her numerous placements. These include MTV's hit drama series, Undressed; Standing on Fishes (Kelsey Grammer and Jason Priestly); Black Cloud (Rick Schroder and Tim McGraw); and a song on the Tommy Castro Band's CD, Guilty of Love. Based in the Bay Area, Turner plays in festivals, clubs, and concert settings. She plays solo or with her five-piece band that wields some of the areas best players Billy Lee Lewis, B.Z. Lewis, Don Bassey, and Pam Delgado (Blame Sally).
