Details: "So This Is Love" blends the best of the 50's and 60's with new material made fresh with the adult contemporary vocal stylings of a brilliant new artist on the scene named Glen Agritelley. This CD has pop/rock songs to easy listening ballads with a heavy Orbison feel, but with modern production. Recommended if you like Tom Jones, Engelbert Humperdinck, Raoul Malo. This cd was first released in '03 and has just been re-released. Glen went back to Nashville and with the help of Bucky Barrett, Orbison's lead guitar player, they completely remixed the cd with brand new vocals. With the Jordanaires vocal accompanyment Bucky also added Richard Law and Donna Ulisse as additional backgrounds. While the songs remain the same, this release presents the music in a totally different way. Glen's goal with this project was to pay tribute to some of the greatest singers of our time: Roy Orbison, Elvis Presley, Johnny Mathis, Nat King Cole, and Eric Clapton. This remains the only music where former members of Elvis Presley's original band and Roy Orbison's band collaborated. It is a unique piece of work and one that has been in the making for a long time.
