Northeast Mountain Folkabilly with a Liberal dose of social commentary. World, Folk, Pop 13 MP3 Songs
FOLK: Folk Pop, WORLD: World Traditions Details: Todd McKinney began his music career in high school playing standup bass in a folk trio with his brothers Malcolm and Fred. In college he formed an electric band with Malcolm, Jonathan Edwards, Joe Dolce of Shaddap You Face fame and others. His songs have been recorded by Tom Rush and Edwards and produced by Martin Mull. Rush issued Todds song Anna as the first cut on his Live At Symphony Hall album. The concert from which Rushs recording was made has been aired across the US and Europe. The song was also featured in an interview with Rush on ABCs Entertainment Tonight. Todd has appeared on bills with Tom Paxton, James and Livingston Taylor, Don McLean, Bill Monroe, B.B. King, Paul Butterfield and many others. His current recordings are self-produced, featuring his vocals and playing on acoustic guitar, electric guitar and bass, keyboards, and drum and percussion sequencing plus additional multi-instrumental work from Bob McCarthy and David Buzzell. Todds melodies are at once accessible, yet, strikingly original. His lyrics are penetrating and poetic. In performance he is able to connect with audiences on a very personal level. His music is magical.
