Vocalist a mixture of a big Cajun, Johnny Cash, Kris Kristoferson, music: piano a mixture of Johnny Johnson, Jerry Lee Lewis, Ray Charles; Organ: shades of Jimmy Smith; Accordion: typical Louisiana style; Style Zye-de-co, blues Louisiana Cajun folk 11 MP3 Songs BLUES: Piano Blues, COUNTRY: Country Blues Details: Lloyd G. Bullock Jr., better known to his fans as Johnny Bullock, has performed professionally since his 13th Birthday. Originally a native of Louisiana and still residing there, he has traveled extensively in his lifetime throughout the United States, performing with several different groups too numerous to mention here, as well as his own show. Johnny, now in his 60's, and at the urging of his friends, fans, and family, releases his first album, consisting of songs he has written over a lifetime of music. It is the first album of a group of albums he hopes to release in the future. The musical is typical of not only Johnny's musical talent as a writer, keyboard player, and vocalist, but also his home of Louisiana. Johnny does a one-man show, thanks to the advent of the synthesizer, and performs for private parties, weddings, festivals, and clubs throughout Louisiana, Texas, and Arkansas. He is described by his friends as a Big Cajun with a Jerry Reed attitude toward life, who loves music and is a people person. You can contact Johnny through his web site at: swampwaterblues.com.
