The album is driven by songwriter Chris Pattersons worn, in your face vocal style, ripping telecasters, and sweet pedal steel. Backed by a strong group of musicians, Pattersons songs really shine in this first effort. The music for 100 Miles to Sunday was captured by veteran music Producer/Engineer, Paul Grupp (Byrds, Eagles, Charlie Daniels, Boston, etc.). Grupps influence is quite evident on the album through both the dreamy ballads and the edgy rockers. The CD is destined to be another triumph in the already long list of Grupp successes.
