Lavel's life has been a mystery until his music gave him a face. Lavel has been able to advance in Detroit's Horrorcore rap music scene due in part to a grant from Northville's mental institution. Doctor's at the asylum have used Lavel's music as medicine to sedate patients and control erratic behavior. Lavel's own doctors have performed psychoanalysis on his unbalanced mind. After weeks of testing, it was determined that Lavel's mind floats in a dream-like state. He believes he can converse with his shadow. Lavel's shadow, who he calls Mr. Realist is a more stable, grounded personality. This type of mental condition is known as psychosis and these two seperate mindstates often don't get along. Although his music is used as a sedative to the mentally insane, it has the opposite effects on the average rap audience. His albums live shows inspire even provoke listeners to come unhinged. His powerful voice possesses an environment often causing dementia. Lavel's current album "Nutty" shatters the mundane conventionalism of mainstream rap. His daily psychotic bouts and scitzophernic episodes result in an album that displays two voices... two personalities. After Mr. Realist approved his CD's artwork, Lavel secretly went in and embedded a code for his most dedicated fans, also known as "shadows". This allows the shadows to download unreleased music from his website, lavel.net His album was produced in the leftwing of Northville's mental hospital. The padded walls of this makeshift studio inspire hallucinations and inventive lyrical content. The 18 tracks on "Nutty" will take listeners on a hypnotizing ride. His legion of shadows on the outside were able to smuggle in vocal collaborators including Esham, Mastamind of Natas, Bombshell, 2wn Gunz. Tracks by Mike E Clark (or ICP Fame), Esham and The 46th also found their way past institution gaurds. Tracks like "Been There" w/Bombshell, "Official", "Menace", "Luv 2 Hate", "Diss Me", "Don't Be" w/Esham and others will act as witness to Lavel's unsound mind. Lavel is medicine for the frustrations and evils of a mentally stressed society.
