My favorite vocalists and musicians singing and performing my originals...in a wide range of styles. 12 MP3 Songs EASY LISTENING: Soft Rock, COUNTRY: Western Details: "People mistakenly assume that my disability has something to do with my wheelchair," says quadriplegic mystery novelist, freelance magazine writer, songwriter, and blues harp player, Kevin Robinson. "The real problem is that I can't sing!" That physical challenge hatched Robinson's debut CD project, FAMILY PICNIC: Songs from a Non-performing Songwriter, a compilation of his original songs, performed by his adopted "family" of talented musical friends and acquaintances. "I just wanted to take a shot at selling a song or two, and I am overwhelmed by the number of great musicians who agreed to pitch in," Robinson says. "And thanks to help from the Brooklyn Museum of Art and graphic artist, Jody Drake (AwakeningWorld.com), the cover features the fitting and famous Thomas Cole painting, The Pic-nic." FAMILY PICNIC: Songs from a Non-performing Songwriter features twelve Robinson originals performed by a wonderful collection of musicians, including Mark Calkins on vocals, guitar and harps, Charlie Lang on vocals and keyboard, Bob Malone on vocals and keyboard, Todd Giudice on vocals and guitar, Rhett Tyler on vocals and guitar, Bar Scott on vocals, Steve Stiert on vocals, Cate Tyler on vocals, Eric Benjamin Gordon on vocals, percussion, guitar, bass and keyboard, Dorraine Scofield on vocals, fiddle and mandolin, Alan Semenovich on vocals and bass, Jeremy Baum on keyboard, Bob Couse, J.B. Hunt and David Nelson on bass, Greg Busch and Donny Stroffolino on percussion.
