

Mp3 Kevin Russell - Movin' On

All eleven songs were written by Kevin Russell and he knows how to write a good song. This is a mainly acoustic based CD with some electric guitar thrown in for some flavor. 'Damnation Alley' opens the CD with a acoustic rhythm that could also work really well as a heavy rocker. 'Move Closer To Me' is an excellent song that reminds me of Robben Ford in vocal and rhythm style. Sort of a shuffle with tasteful guitar work throughout. 'I Want This' sounds like it could come directly off Eric Clapton's "Unplugged" CD both vocally and musically. 'Leave You Alone' is another Robben Ford style song, again done very tastefully. 'A Longtime' has an almost country style to it, with a rock undercurrent. I could picture this being done by someone like the Allman Brothers. 'A Walk Through Indian Valley' is one of the two standout instrumental tracks, that reminds me of early Jimmy Page combining acoustic guitar with an infectious beat. Within the tune are some acoustic harmonies that really add character to the song. 'Same Thing' is a slow electric blues song with an old Delta Records sound and feel. 'In My Children's Eyes' is the second standout instrumental on the CD. Tasteful and understated would be a good description of this second instrumental combining an airy open sound with enough reverb to accent the acoustic guitars. Bottom line: If you like Robben Ford's blues sound and/or Eric Clapton's unplugged sound, you will love this CD. There's a lot here that is not apparent on just one listen. What is here is something that stands out amongst the crowd without hitting you over the head for attention. I would highly recommend this CD. You won't listen to it just once!
