electrofetish + cybergoth + modern industrial. "... a sleek offering that will have you fighting... into tomorrow." Outburn 17 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Industrial, METAL: Industrial Metal Details: .: OUTBURN .: Review ELECTROLUST '4 out of 5' .FASCINATION WITH DOMINATION. "Lock up your mothers, sisters, and daughters, More Machine Than Man is back again. They've shown the capacity to deliver the goods on past albums, and Electrolust just keeps 'em coming. And coming...Electrolust is a sleek offering that will have you fighting and fucking into tomorrow." .: SIDE-LINE .: Review ELECTROLUST "The songs on Electrolust, are hard with powerful guitar hooks and killer electronics. This is totally industrial chaos, that really ignites...Definitely a true leader, nothing mainstream here." .: TERRORIZER .: Review ELECTROLUST '8 out of 10' Electrolust takes the best of ...Thrill Kill Kult, Lords of Acid and KMFDM ...nailing gritty guitars to thumping techno beat, atop with both Tech's guttural snarling and Tasha's wailing vox. MMTM...are breathing life into a genre these days far too heavily populated with humourless, bloodless Puppy-clones and dreary Ibiza-style dance music masquerading as Goth/EBM. Refreshingly invigorating. In 2000, More Machine Than Man exploded out of the clubs in Boston and New York, fueled by dynamic, guitar driven industrial-dance that is defined by undeniable hooks and pop sensibility. After scorching eighty stages with their unique blend of sonic and visual creativity, MMTM has become the sexual brute force driving the future of the genre. Five U.S. tours, headlining or performing with the likes of Razed in Black and The Cruxshadows, has only honed the fine edges of More Machine's killer instinct for their first European tour in June of 2005. From Gothic Beauty to Terrorizer, More Machine Than Man's five releases, and countless compilations, have earned international critical acclaim from the entire gambit of this subculture. Their latest EP, Binary Sex, debuted at #10 on the French Alternative Chart and MMTM has been one of the top 20 industrial artists at Tower

Records for the last two years. Through successful collaboration with artists like En Esch (Slick Idiot and x-KMFDM), Razed in Black, Pigface, and Girls Under Glass, this duo continues to defy all limitations by making these icons of industrial music their peers. More Machine's kinetic talent has earned recording contracts in both North America with Underground inc., and Europe with Black Flames Records. "...a perfect blend of seduction and destruction"...GOTHIC BEAUTY "...the answer to every industrial fan's wet dream."...GOTHICVIXEN.NET "[MMTM's music]...can only be described as the path that modern day Electronic Industrial music has lost - It's nothing short of bloody superb!"...HARDWYRED "MMTM are masters of electronic Chaos. Electrolust is a realm of pure sexual intensity and utter chaos."...CULTURE ASYLUM "[Live, MMTM is] Punishing, but impressive, mixes of hard house, industrial metal and erotic disco played as a synchronized soundtrack to the multimedia."...INDYGOTH.COM
