Details: Vincent Russo has been composing music since 1988. He is a self taught musician on both guitar and keyboards. While growing up on Long Island, Vincent explored rock, blues, jazz and western classical music. Over the years Vincent has produced a wide range of works that range from chamber, symphonic, choral as well as more pop oriented and electronic styles of music. Mr. Russo brings a sensibility and intelligence to his music. Early recordings such as "blue meditations for solo piano" are a testament to his maturity as a composer. Vincent is always searching for new ways to express himself through his art. Newer recordings such as "pieces for piano/adagio ma non troppo" are explorations into the subconscious and music in its purest forms. Seeking inspiration from classical and contemporary composers alike, he has achieved penetrating works that demand attention.
