Atmospheric Hip Hop: The first full-length album from the lyricist who released the independent gems "Old Wise," "Full Circle" and "Live At The Improv"--now accompanied by his live band, Brohemian. 13 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: Hip Hop, JAZZ: Acid Jazz Details: Brooklyn-bred emcee Yah Supreme made a splash in the indie hip-hop scene with producer Cave Precise. Their first 12", "Old Wise" was widely received and paved the way for them to release subsequent singles and a compilation on their self-owned label, Son Doo Recordings. With the backing of Fat Beats--the premier international independent distribution company specializing in vinyl--Yah's material quickly circulated worldwide and received favorable reviews in such magazines as Vibe, Urb and HITS! The demand for Yah Supreme led to performances in various cities including Atlanta, Philadelphia and Paris. In addition to releasing material through Parisian production company Underground Academy, Yah is performing regularly in New York City with his live band Brohemian. Buttressed by drums, percussion, bass, vintage keys and multi-part female harmonies the "Yah Supreme sound" has greater depth and finesse. Best described as "atmospheric hip-hop" his classic-soul inflected arrangements coalesce with plaintive anecdotes and earnest introspection. In performance, Yah makes his college theatre training apparent, infusing each show with improv, stand-up and audience participation. Guest musicians and vocalists frequent Brohemian concerts, and jam sessions vary from funk to blues, disco to samba. The band has promoted their recent debut album "Post Modern Garden" in Williamsburg (Brooklyn) at Zebulon, Galapagos, Rose Live Music, Rain Lounge, Red Black, B.P.M., Brooklyn Sole and at a weekly residency at Black Betty. Brohemian has also played dates at the Stephen Talkhouse, Sullivan Room, Ace of Clubs and the Delancey Lounge. Yah's history of appearances in New York includes S.O.B.s, CB's Gallery, Nuyorican Poets' Cafe, and a guest vocalist and emcee role at the NuBlu's monthly Meltin' Pot.
