The songs are written about faith and speak differently to each listener. Some songs speak very clearly of this faith, and some songs make you think more deeply in what the song truly means. Mainly a soft rock acoustic album, it is easy to get lost in the world that the artist brings you into. The more you understand what the artist is saying in his music, the more you get the feeling of what has happened in his life. There is a true spirit that talks to you when you listen to the music and what the artist is saying. A perfect relationship is something that we are all after, and that relationship is touched in a deep and powerful way to those who are looking. I could go on forever about what this album means, but you must hear it for yourself!
