Achas Shoalti- One Thing I Ask, Seth Nadel's debut cd, features 14 original songs of Jewish folk rock. Critics have called his music "spiritual and passionate rock n' roll for the soul," and "Dylan, Springsteen, and Tom Petty meets Carlebach and Diaspora 14 MP3 Songs WORLD: Judaica, ROCK: Folk Rock Details: Seth Nadel is a singer/songwriter, performer, and teacher. Writing soulful music that pulls on the heartstrings of his listeners, Seth strives for something deeper. This depth comes from years of studying and playing music from all over the world. His unique blend of "Jewish folk rock" is both spiritual and passionate. Seth's music is a high-energy hybrid of rock, pop, folk, and blues. Critics have called his music, "Dylan, Springsteen, and the Counting Crows meet Carlebach and Diaspora," and "a fun rockin' Jewish good time." "Reb Seth" has traveled North America playing Jewish music at Shabbatonim, cafs, high schools, universities, summer camps and synagogues. Over the past five years, he has performed for audiences of all ages and backgrounds. On stage, he weaves words of Torah and Chassidic tales in between his songs. He believes, like the Chassidic Masters have taught, that music is a vehicle that can bring one closer to G-d. Whether performing solo or along with his band, his performances are energetic and uplifting. In May 2004, Seth released his highly anticipated debut album Achas Shoalti- One Thing I Ask, featuring fourteen original songs. The album, a collaboration with renowned producer Steve Bill, has been called by critics, "passionate and energetic rock and roll for the soul." Seth is available for concerts, Shabbatonim, classes, and leading spirited synagogue services.
