When you first experience the dynamic vocal ministry of Terry Newsome, you will not be surprised to learn that he began singing at the mere age of four. With the spiritual covering, guidance and influence of his mother's ministry, and the godly nurturing of his father and older siblings, Terry's groomed his talents with a growing understanding of the importance of God's anointing in his life and singing and the need to always give reverence to the power of God. By witnessing a God-fearing, faith-believing example in his own parents, Terry unceasingly is thankful for them for graciously molding and shaping him into a spirit-lead music vessel capable of leading God's people into the presence of the Lord in praise and worship. He was nominated for best new artist by WSOK radio for this work. He appears on a compilation album called "Men of Valor" which features six new artists on the NuBreed label. He is currently working on his new album entitled "Soul Music". This is definitely his best work. Terry defines the album in the lyrics of the title song "Soul Music"- "music that breaks yokes and inspired by the Holy Ghost." The album will be completed and released in August 2005.
