I arrived in San Diego, California and was drug away kicking and screaming to a small town in Kentucky. So small and insignificant that I will not mention it. After high school I left and didn't look back. I moved around a bit and finally settled down in Houston. i started as a sound man and moved on from there. I played with and recorded the East 21st Street Orchestra for a couple of years with a 4 track. Then played with the Spontains for a few years, still doing the recordings. Alas the straight job ended and I had to move back to a small town in Kentucky. So small and insignificant that I will not mention it. I have been a solo artist now for a couple of years. I make electronic music, using various instruments and computer programs.
