Modern folk rock with a jam band appeal- "spruce roots" 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, ROCK: Roots Rock Details: Dr. Fishy is a 6 piece band from Terrace BC created by James Powell and Greg Linton. They have become NW BC festival standards. A combination of folk, rock, jazz and blue grass, their music genre can best be described as Spruce Roots. All original music, the local themes flow through the music like the Skeena River through NW BC. The band has been featured on CFNR, CFTK and CBC radio across the province and across the country. Guest players with the band have included CBC radio personality Bill Richardson as well as Vancouver jazz trumpet legend, Donnie Clark. The band's influences are as far reaching as their music is eclectic with Pink Floyd, John Hiatt, Lucinda Williams, Bela Fleck ....all having played a role in their artistic development. James Powell, one of the principal singer/songwriters provides his quirky lyrics and self taught talents on most any stringed instrument including banjo, guitar and mandolin. Greg Linton, the other singer/songwriter of the band adds vocals, guitar and trumpet to the signature Dr. Fishy sound. Daryl McDicken has been providing drums and percussion to the band since its inception. His training at McGill has brought many interesting rhythms to the music. Mitch Adams, a local fixture on the Terrace music scene, has given the band a great bass anchor. Glen Grieve, the newest addition to the band has fleshed out the sound with the addition of killer keyboards and sizzling sax. Mark Fleming, a graduate of Capillano College music program, has the chops on lead guitar to sink his teeth into all the Dr. Fishy tunes and make them shine. Look for Dr. Fishy coming to a festival near you and dont be surprised if you find yourself a Fish Head by the end of one of their exciting shows.
