Jennifer Haines was a musician and composer from the start. As a toddler, Jennifer would sing her own melodies while riding in her car seat, and finally at the age of ten her desire to learn music began to be fulfilled. Although her first step in music was to begin piano lessons, she didn't foresee the dedication involved in learning the more challenging pieces she longed to be able to play. Frustrated, she quit after only nine months. At the age of sixteen, her desire to play was rekindled and she began teaching herself. Her ability to play melodies by ear enabled her to conquer the difficult classical pieces she loved as well as recreating the enchanting piano music she heard listening to Enya. For the first time she was able to sit at the piano without the discouragement she used to feel, and her creativity began to blossom. After being happily married on January 4, 1999 and receiving further inspiration from her husband and new sister Melissa, Jennifer began to express her creativity in a new way-composing! She recorded her first two collections of piano solos in 2002, entitled "Reflections" and "Autumn Leaves", as gifts for her friends and family. Her third album "Sky" is the first CD she has made in order to share her music with others. She now lives in Long Island, New York with her loving husband, Peter, and her two adorable girls, Naomi and Nol.
